Congress Convenes In Regular Session at Noon

IMPORTANT MEASURE AWAITING ACTION

ly Routine Business Transacted Today; Message of Wilson Awaited

PLAIN PRAYS FOR INTEGRITY, WISDOM

mmmins Fails In Effort to Bring Railroad Bill Up For Discussion

ASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Congress is at work again, the House and Senate having met at noon today for regular session. There were many seats in both houses when the presiding officers made the call for order.

In the Senate, after Vice President Marshall's call to order, the chaplain prayed that "the integrity of Abraham and the wisdom of Solomon" might guide the body in framing a reconstruction program. With the routine organizing resolutions out of the way, both houses passed resolutions for appointment of committee to notify the president that congress is awaiting any communication he may wish to make on the subject of the union.

Because the President is unable to receive the delegation the usual language of the resolution was changed, omitting the instruction to the committee to wait on the President. They were told to notify him.

In the senate after the prayer by a chaplain, Vice President Marshall gave the usual notice that the constitutional time for assembling congress had arrived and ordered the session.

The session of each house lasted an hour.

The business ahead of the legislators comprises a program rated by leaders as the most important in years, if not the nation's history, including what are considered some of the most complicated domestic problems ever presented.

As the house and senate met today there was a disposition among members to "feel their way" very carefully with respect to the vital legislation on big questions, rather than to accept the first solution offered. Speed, they indicated, is sacrificed to safety in legislating.

Wilson's Message Awaited Tomorrow President Wilson's message on the state of the union—his annual report, in effect—is to be read, because of conditions in industry, the high cost of living and related questions, the message is awaited with the greatest interest. Administration forces in the senate intend to begin today working toward the compromise, which they predict will be reached within a few weeks, bringing ratification soon after the new year.

Discussion of the Mexican question break out in either body. Some members are considering the advisability of demanding immediate and sweeping inquiry, demanding information or in some way showing the interest of congress in a settlement of this country's relations with the southern republic.

Lighthouse To Guide Sky Pilots Now Provided In London

First Aerial Lighthouse

Unique Device Effective and Makes Landing at Night Easy

LONDON, Dec. 1.—On a dark and stormy night—no this is not fiction—a brilliant light shot high up into the heavens to guide to a safe haven any storm tossed mariner who might be cruising around in the clouds.

It was a flash from the first aerial light house that has just been completed at the Hounslow airfield at this place. The beams of a powerful searchlight are thrown upward and strong ground light is also provided by the unique device.

The new lighthouse looks like an overgrown lamp shade but it is very powerful and airmen say it will permit them to land with safety on the darkest night. They have tested it thoroughly and have found little more trouble in landing with the aid of its rays, than in daylight.

TROOPS ARE ASKED AFTER STEEL RIOT

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 1.—A demand for troops was made by Prosecutor Parrott, Marshall county, following rioting in Benwood early today, when one man was killed, another believed fatally hurt and several others sustained minor hurts in a revolver battle between coal strikers and a force of deputy sheriffs.

Officers said the strikers precipitated the battle when they tried to stop other steel workers from returning to their jobs in the National Tube Company plant. Heavily armed officers and citizens are patrolling the town. Sheriff W. E. Clayton was shot in the abdomen and may die. Deputy Sheriff McCordie was slightly wounded. Matto Baron, said to have been a leader among the strikers, was shot dead.

STOCK MARKET RALLY BOOSTS SOME PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Prices were irregular at the stock market opening today. United States Steel, ex-dividend, opened at 102, up 1/2; American Woolen 118 1/2, off 1/4; Central Leather, 92 1/2, up 1/4; Lackawanna 83, up 1; Marine 96, off 1/4; Mexican Petroleum 189, up 1/4; Southern Pacific 93 1/4, up 1/4; Bethlehem B. 90, up 1/4; Crucible 192, off 3, and Republic 102 1/2, unchanged.

Toward the end of the first half hour a fair sized rally set in which included motors, equipments and steels.

WARRANTS BEING SERVED TODAY ON 134 POLITICIANS INDICTED WITH NEWBERRY

WON'T BE ANY SCARCITY OF CHRISTMAS CANDIES

Santa Ana Confectioners to Have Sweets Despite Sugar Shortage

THOUGH the present sugar shortage will have the effect, in one or two instances of causing a Christmas candy scarcity in Santa Ana, still most of the local manufacturers will have ample stocks to supply the demand, it was learned today.

The wholesalers have only small quantities of sugar, it was said. Whether Orange county refineries have considerable stocks on hand is a matter of doubt, it appears. In this connection, according to one dealer today, the refiners in this district have been more lenient with the public than in some other sections of California, releasing sufficient stocks to supply a considerable part of the demand.

It was hinted that the present sugar scarcity is due in a measure to policy pursued by some manufacturers in other parts of the state who are holding stocks in anticipation of higher prices after the first of the year. The action of the government in drawing on California for part of its beet sugar stock to relieve the situation in the east, was said to have been partly responsible for local shortage.

Prices Took Jump Sugar prices took a jump late last week, the wholesale quotation being $12 a hundred; the retail figure will probably go to 13 cents a pound, it was said.

Lessons learned in sugar making during the war have been profitably applied by W. H. James, proprietor of James' confectionery. "We have learned how to use less sugar," said James today. "We are making all the candy we can sell. I do not believe that the sugar shortage will make any particular difference as concerns the manufacture and sale of our candies. Our output is just as good as it was last year."

"Of course, we have to buy our sugar in whatever lots we can get, from jobbers and wholesalers, and while we cannot get as much of the sweet stuff as we would like, still our stocks of candy will be sufficient to supply our demand. As for prices, I do not think they will be more than 20 percent higher than they were last year."

Little Cheap Candy Only a limited quantity of cheaper grades of candies is being made this year by the Dragon confectionery, according to C. V. Davis, one of the firm.

"We are putting nearly all of the available sugar into candies of good quality," said Davis. "We are making probably not more than 75 percent as much candy this year as last. The Dragon still has some cane sugar on hand for its best candies, but is using beet sugar mostly, as are all other candy makers."

One man whom the sugar shortage is hitting rather severely, is Willard Smith, proprietor of the Lion Candy Kitchen.

"I am unable to get sugar," said Smith. "If it were not for the fact that I put in a supply of eastern candies I would be 'up against it.' I have been looking for the situation to ease up, but it continues grave. I have been able to secure small lots of sugar from time to time and have

Conspiracy to Corrupt the Electorate in Elections of 1918 Charged

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 1.—The United States attorney announced this afternoon that U. S. Senator Newberry would appear here on Monday for arraignment on charges of conspiracy and perjury. Twenty-one other indicted men also will appear on that date it was announced.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 1.—Deputy United States marshals were sent out today to arrest 134 politicians, who, with Senator Truman H. Newberry, were indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to corrupt the electorate in the 1918 elections. It was expected by tonight a large percentage of the number will be under bonds or in jail.

Sensor Newberry, it was believed, would accept service through his attorneys in Detroit. Senator Newberry is charged not only with conspiracy, but with perjury. It is alleged he filed a false campaign expense statement with the United States Senate.

The names of only thirteen of those indicted, in addition to the senator, were known early today. This list was announced by Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis, assistant United States attorney general, after the jury had reported. Names of the others will become known as arrests are made.

No arrests were made yesterday or Saturday night. It was Dailey's wish that no papers be served at a time when those involved could not be produced. It was announced that those arrested outside of Grand Rapids would be permitted to give bonds in the cities where the arrests were made.

Arraignment of the men will start next Monday. Those indicted will be arraigned in lots of fifteen or twenty to speed the work. Trials will start early in January. United States Judge Clarence W. Sessions announced he will tolerate no efforts to postpone trials unnecessarily, although every chance will be given the indicted persons to prepare their defense. Judge Sessions desires the trials be ended as soon as possible.

Attorney Dailey will return from Indianapolis today and immediately begin work of preparing for the prosecution.

DEPUTY GOING AFTER ALLEGED HIGHWAYMEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—Deputy sheriffs plan to leave tonight for El Centro to bring back two brothers by the name of Rolan, who were arrested near Holtville, Imperial county, yesterday, charged with being the men who robbed John McManus of Long Beach near Whittier Saturday morning, took his automobile and left him bound and gagged by the roadside. Reports to the Sheriff's office said the automobile had been wrecked.

FIRST TRAINS EL CENTRO, SAN DIEGO OPERATE

Great Crowd Cheers Cars on Way and Celebration Is Started

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 1.—Train service on the new San Diego and Arizona railway started today between San Diego and El Centro.

On December 10 service will start between San Diego and Yuma, Ariz., and Pullman cars will be operated between San Diego and Chicago via the S. D. and A., Southern Pacific and Rock Island lines.

As the first train pulled out of the union station here today a great crowd cheered it on its way. At the same moment a big special train bearing officials of the new road, governors and distinguished citizens of the southwestern states, left El Centro bound for San Diego. Their arrival here today was the spark that set off the trans-continental week celebration with a bang.

San Diegans have thrown themselves heart and soul into the jollification and thousands of visitors from Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico are taking an active part in the festivities. The gaily decorated streets of the city are thronged with merry-makers and a real carnival spirit prevails throughout the city.

Big Parade Today The program for today included a great parade through the business district with scores of floral and industrial floats, military division and naval division, numerous bands and distinguished guests in autos. The parade disbanded at Balboa Park, where speeches were made by John D. Spreckels, president and builder of the new railway, the visiting governors, railway officials and other prominent guests.

The importance of the city's harbor as an outlet for the new railroad will be celebrated tomorrow with a program of water sports, aeroplaning, a naval review and an illuminated water pageant at night.

Wednesday will be Stadium Day, with chariot races and school and athletic events in the big $200,000 stadium. On Thursday the program will be staged at Balboa Park, where practically all of the Exposition buildings are still intact.

On Friday the scene will shift to the Imperial Valley, where the last two days of the fiesta will be staged, closing with a great barbecue and program in El Centro Saturday afternoon.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS TURN DOWN AGREEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Electrical workers of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company have voted by a small majority to reject the wage agreement offered by their international officers, according to an announcement by T. C. Vickers, representing the international organization. The workers voted in favor of a strike Vickers said the vote was very light and he did not believe the strike actually would result.

Hubby Says He Failed to Fill the Specifications of Millionaire

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The "Temple of Love," proved to be a flivver for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Barnacle, and in spite of their name they could not stick together.

The bride was Mrs. Ida C. Halladay. She and Barnacle wished to have an ideal married life so they separated themselves from $25 cash to join the "Temple of Love" whose members were supposed to get the "real low down" on how to live happily ever afterwards.

But somebody greased the matrimonial highway and the Barnacles skidded away from one another. Barnacle, however, says he had intended to stick to the bargain but somehow he apparently did not come up to the bride's specifications of a millionaire which she believed him to be, so she deserted him, despite the $25 "Temple of Love" fee.

FIND WOMAN'S BODY IN TRUNK AT HOME

LAWTON, Mich., Dec. 1.—Police today sought Mrs. Lester Tabor and her son Walter, last reported "somewhere in Oregon," following the finding of the body of Miss Maud Tabor in a trunk in the basement of the Tabor home here.

The body was found by Mrs. Florence Tabor Gritchlow, formerly of San Francisco, a sister of the dead woman. Authorities said the body had evidently been in the trunk for at least three years.

Miss Tabor, a graduate of the University of Michigan, and a teacher of languages, disappeared about three years ago, shortly after the death of her father, a prominent lawyer of this city.

Police said that following the woman's disappearance her brother, Walter, declared she died on a ranch out west, where she had gone for her health. Authorities said Miss Tabor had a sweetheart here at the time of her disappearance. Examination of the body disclosed the fact the woman was about to become a mother, furnishing the motive for the crime. Miss Tabor was 46 years of age when she disappeared.

NOTE SAYS CHARGE OF PERJURY UNTRUE

Text of Lengthy Letter to Mexican Government Is Given Out

NEW ALLEGATION HAS NO FOUNDATION, CLAIM

Lansing Declares Consular Agent Harassed While In Hospital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Characterizing as "mere excuses" Mexico's reasons for not releasing American Consular Agent William O. Jenkins, the United States, in a note made public today, again asked for his "immediate release from further imprisonment."

Secretary Lansing's communication to Carranza brushes aside the Mexican reply to the first note declaring "the United States is not to be driven by such subtle arguments into a defense of its request for the release of Mr. Jenkins. It is for Mexico to show cause for his detention and not for the United States to plead for his liberation."

Mexico is accused of trying to cloud the issue. The note asks whether the charge of perjury was brought against Jenkins in the interests of his abductors and charges the Mexican government is "prosecuting the victim instead of the perpetrators of the crime."

The charge against Jenkins is "entirely unsupported by evidence," the note declared, and says the American investigation conducted by agents of this government fails utterly to support the charges against him.

Third Degree Methods.

Mexican officials are accused of using third degree methods on Jenkins in that they harassed him trying to get him to give false testimony when he was weak and sick in the hospital. The American people are aroused "to a point of indignation by the case," the note says.

The state department this afternoon had no confirmation of a border report that Jenkins already has been released.

Sherman Porter of the House foreign affairs committee will confer with Secretary Lansing on the Mexican situation late today. He will ask the secretary of state to outline the government negotiations and said he would assure the state department of the House's support in any action that may be taken to safeguard American rights in Mexico.

"The Mexican government believes, and rightly so, that the American request for Jenkins' release is not based on 'the strength of the country which makes it,' for it knows the request is founded on the justice of the right of an American citizen and United States consular officer to fair treatment while residing and discharging his duties within Mexican jurisdiction with the knowledge and approval of the Mexican government."

"The Mexican government may contend that the imprisonment of the victim is necessary for the investigation by a judge under the 'constant vigilance of public opinion' of the truth palliative for such wrongful imprisonment, but the United States is constrained to the opinion that such arguments are mere excuses."

"The government of the United States is constrained to the opinion that such arguments are mere excuses."

U.S. Again Demands That Mexico Release Jenkins

New Note Given Out at Washington Declares That Charge of Perjury Against Consular Agent Is Without Any Foundation

States invites and desires the fullest possible examination and investigation of this case, but it cannot admit that it is necessary that Mr. Jenkins should be retained in prison even with the privilege of applying for bail. My government will not, and is satisfied that Mr. Jenkins will not place any obstacles in the way of a complete and full examination of himself or his witnesses, or of the events leading up to and connected with his abduction.

"The Mexican government prefers to attribute the American note to an imperfect knowledge of the Mexican penal laws and proceeds to explain with refinement the intricacies of Mexican penal proceedings, but the government of the United States fails to discern in their application to this case at the hands of Mexican authorities an approximation to impartial treatment of Jenkins and the Mexican government knows the absence of such treatment is the reason for the American request.

"The Mexican government maintains that it cannot grant the request of the United States for Jenkins' release for the reason that under international law no diplomatic intervention is appropriate unless a denial of justice has occurred and because the Mexican government is not in a position to demand Jenkins' release in view of the separation of the executive and judicial powers under the Mexican form of government and the independence of the state courts, by one of which Jenkins is held.

Justice Already Denied

"The succinct answer to this contention is, as every one knows, that a denial of justice has already taken place and also because the Mexican constitution specifically gives the federal tribunals jurisdiction of all cases concerning diplomatic agents and consular officers.

"The United States is not to be driven by such subtle arguments into a defense of its request for the release of Mr. Jenkins. It is for Mexico to show cause for his detention, not for the United States to plead for his liberation. Stripped of extraneous matter with which the Mexican note of November 26 endeavors to clothe it, the naked case of Jenkins stands forth: Jenkins, a United States consular agent, accredited to the government of Mexico is imprisoned for 'rendering false judicial testimony' in connection with the abduction of which he was the victim. This is the substance of the Mexican note.

"My government is pleased to learn that the imprisonment of Jenkins stands on this first and well defined ground and that the repeated statements that Mexican authorities had caused the imprisonment of Jenkins because of collusion with his abductors and rebellion against the state are not seriously regarded by your government.

Prosecuting the Victim

"In whose interests then is the charge of false swearing brought against Jenkins? His abductors? He is in equity the complainant in the case of his abduction, not the defendant, as the Mexican government now makes him out to be. The Mexican government is prosecuting the victim instead of the perpetrators of the crime. While the outlaws, who endangered his life and took away a large part of his fortune, enjoy their freedom, the Mexican authorities now deprive Jenkins of his liberty. Moreover, the ground expressed for the imprisonment of Jenkins, namely, that he is supposed to be responsible for the crime of rendering false judicial testimony, must be taken—and my government directs special attention to this point—as merely an expression of opinion on the part of the Mexican government as it is entirely unwarranted by evidence.

"The Mexican government cannot expect the United States to accept in the grave circumstances of this case such a bare, unsupported statement as a valid excuse for the imprisonment of an American consular officer, particularly in view of the fact that the investigation of the case by the representative of the United States in Mexico, so far as it has proceeded, fails utterly to support this opinion of your government.

Harassed by Authorities

On the contrary, the investigation gives the government of the United States every reason to believe that Mr. Jenkins has not knowingly given any false testimony in respect to vital points in his case, although he has been harassed by Mexican authorities to give such testimony even while lying in the hospital too weak and exhausted to make them, as a result of his treatment by the abductors and while he knew evidence was being obtained against him through intimidation of witnesses. So stands the single, unsupported—and my government believes utterly unfounded—ground alleged for Jenkins' imprisonment.

"What conclusion is to be drawn from such a reply as the Mexican government other than there has been a studied effort on the part of Mexican authorities to insure Jenkins in the intricacies of legal proceedings by alleging the commission of technical offenses and by bringing unsupported charges against him for a purpose?

"In the first place, to divert the attention of the American public and the American government and indeed, the Mexicans themselves from the actual situation, namely that Puebla, the capital of the state of Puebla, and perhaps the second largest city in Mexico, is without adequate protection from outlaws who infest the immediate neighborhood and who were accustomed openly and freely to visit the city without hindrance, that by the failure to furnish adequate protection in this district the Mexican authorities have, through their negligence, made possible the abduction of Jenkins and that in harmony with such an attitude on the part of the Mexican authorities they have failed to carry out the duty and obligation incumbent upon them to apprehend and punish the bandits concerned in the crime of which Jenkins was the victim.

Willful Indifference

"And in the second place, it appears to have been the purpose of the Mexican government to assume a willful indifference to the feeling of the American people that has been aroused to the point of indignation by the exposure, hardships and physical suffering endured by Jenkins during his abduction and his subsequent treatment at the hands of the Mexican authorities.

"In view of the considerations which have been set forth and in view particularly of the belief of my government that the charge against Jenkins of false swearing is entirely unfounded, the government of the United States must renew its request for the immediate release of Consular Agent Jenkins from further imprisonment.

(Signed) "LANSING."
Carranzista Troops Being Concentrated Along Border

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 1.—A concentration of Carranzista troops along the northern border of Mexico is reported here today.

The largest mobilization is at Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Texas, where reinforcements of 1500 men have arrived since the Jenkins affair grew critical. In the Fuerte Valley and at Navajua, Conora, anti-American Mexican federal Indians have replaced Yaquis friendly to the United States.

The Juarez garrison, suspected of lack of sympathy with the Carranzista cause, has been replaced by loyalists.

Military intelligence officers of the United States government who brought these reports attach no special significance to the massing of Carranzista troops.

Intervention in Mexico appears far off, although inevitable ultimately, according to authorities here today.

Army Not Prepared

While the Jenkins and Wallace cases reported the diplomatic situation tense, American military men and rabid interventionists here admitted that for the first time since the Pershing expedition after Villa the American army is not prepared for the job in Mexico.

Except for ordnance, of which there is enough along the border now to supply five divisions, the army is unprepared. Not over 2000 men are at Fort Bliss today. Regular cavalry companies are down to fifty-five men, compared to a full complement of 100. The infantry units and other branches have been similarly skeletonized by demobilization since the armistice ending the world war.

said, could be taken to mean intervention. The regulars do not expect such a call, although the Texas militia is being recruited to full strength.

Fall Report Awaited

Interest here has turned from the frequently disappointing intervention scare to the forthcoming report of Senator Fall, who has been investigating the Mexican situation. Fall left El Paso recently, primed to "bust the Mexican situation wide open."

Fall is expected to make a preliminary statement to congress within a few days following delivery of the President's message.

Intimations were that Fall would attack Carranza, submit documentary evidence of Carranza's alleged connection with German plots against the United States, and would excoriate the Wilson administration's handling of the Mexican situation.

Growing pressure from Great Britain and France for relief from the present Mexican status was intimated as another feature in the Fall report. Intervention was to be defended by America's course in Cuba.

Carranza was being attacked by all factions on the border today, but even if he squirms out of the present "crisis" he will soon be eliminated by the presidential election in Mexico, according to belief here.

Perjury Evidence Against Jenkins Will Be Sent U. S.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—Evidence tending to show William O. Jenkins, American consular agent, guilty of perjury in connection with his recent kidnapping will be forwarded to the United States at once, it was officially stated last night.

The evidence, Medina said, would be sent at once to Y. Bonillas, Mexican ambassador to the United States, for presentation to the American state department.

Report at El Paso That W. O. Jenkins Is Released

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 1.—A report that William O. Jenkins had been released from Puebla jail was given currency here today by Mexican Consul Garcia and Vice Consul Sandoval, but was not vouched for by them. They said they heard it in Juarez and traced it back to Chihuahua City. At the United States army headquarters here the report was not believed.

Only staple candies are being manufactured by W. E. Pelley and W. C. Withman, confectioners, of 110 North Main street.

"We will have sufficient stocks to supply our trade," said Pelley, "but the public need not expect novelties at our store. Early we put in a considerable stock of candies, bought from wholesalers in Los Angeles and San Francisco. As to candies of our own manufacture, we are confining ourselves practically entirely to staple goods and are making no novelties."

Christmas "choppers at the Cherry Blossom" will find ample stocks of candy available, according to Clyde E. Alling, proprietor.

"We are not able to get as much sugar as we would wish, but I believe we will have plenty of candies on hand to supply our trade," said Alling.

HELP THE BONDS

Santa Anans who are interested in the schools of the city—and that ought to include every person living in this city—should give some serious thought to the part they are to take in the school bonds election that has been called for January 13, on which date an issue of $110,000 for high school purposes is to be submitted to a vote.

In order that the bonds may carry, it is necessary that many hundreds of people in Santa Ana understand the situation and go to the polls and vote favorably to the issue. It is advisable, therefore, that those who do know the conditions at the high school and who do know the need of every improvement that the board of education proposes to make with the money that is to be raised if the bonds carry, miss no opportunity to discuss the situation with neighbors and other friends.

Of equal importance right now is the matter of registration and transfers. In the last few months scores of families in Santa Ana have moved from one house to another. There never was a time in the history of the city that moving vans and transfer wagons and trucks were called into use for overtime service as they have in recent months. Most of those who have moved have lost their votes, unless they transfer.

Those who are on the Great Register made up in 1918 and still in effect and who have not moved from one precinct to another since registering, and who do not move between now and election day, can vote without any further step being taken. The person who has moved from one precinct to another and who has not transferred his registration may make that transfer up to December 14 in order to be in shape to vote on January 13. Any person who has not registered and who is now eligible to register may register any time up to December 14.

Any person desiring to transfer or register may do so at the office of the county clerk.

Those who want to see the high school bonds carry should make specific inquiry among their relatives and friends and urge upon those who are not properly registered to attend to transferring or registering without delay.

FOR RURAL LIFE

National rural co-operation and understanding is the aim of a conference that Secretary of Agriculture Houston says will soon be called by the President.

In the mind of Secretary Houston, the time has now come for a stock taking of our rural life and the rural development situation. He proposes a fresh broad survey of rural life, of its special problems, and of its relationships and possibly the creation of a permanent or temporary commission to insure a uniform rural development over the entire country.

He would provide a comprehensive but practical, program for the guidance of the various agencies that have to do with the development of farm life and farm industry.

Such a conference as had been suggested would call together the leading agriculturists of the country and regional representatives from every farming section. There would also be present the agricultural college heads and the representatives of the various governmental and other organizations having to do with farm life.

This conference would take up questions of farm life and farm development, principally, it is predicted. It would go into the question of securing adequate medical care for the rural community, modern entertainment and modern implements and transportation. It would develop co-operative schemes and provide a relation that would insure national co-operation in marketing and production, and it would take steps looking to the insuring of an adequate farm labor supply both within the community and for special harvesting needs in the various crop regions.

There is no doubt but that the farm and the farmer of the future will receive more attention at the hands of the government than ever before. The absolute necessity of farm production has been emphasized these last few years as never before. There must be a conscious effort to increase farm production, and one of the methods that must be used is to increase the attractiveness of farm life.

PEOPLE AROUSED

There are important national and civic questions now before the people of America, and in these all classes are taking interest as never before. Women as well as men are arousing to the call for public service, and concerning themselves with public affairs.

Public opinion is the great draft of fresh air which sweeps away the foulness and trickery of private machinations that lifts the clouds of false theories and shallow pretensions.

Implicit confidence may be placed in the judgment of the American people once they are aroused to an understanding of a menace or a proposal involving the public's welfare. Sometimes it takes a long period to work out a problem. Sometimes there is lethargy. The pendulum swings back and forth, perhaps.

The present widespread interest in public affairs augurs well. It means that I. W. W.-ism and Bolshevism cannot long maintain the foothold that they have gained in the United States.

Retaining Youth

Long Beach Press
 M. Clemenceau, the sprightly premier of France, who is nearing eighty years, holds the infirmities of age afar off. He was under tremendous strain during the war. God alone knows the tension he must have been under when the enemy was within sight of Paris, when the fate of France and the world was hanging in the balance, when the stupendous weight of government was upon his shoulders. But he came through it magnificently and even survived the bullets of a would-be assassin. The armistice signed. M. Clemenceau plunged at once into the arduous task of the Peace Conference. Through all the stress and strain of those trying months he has held up with superb fortitude, and now that he has a breathing spell he is in his old home place in Brittany to "rest"—but his "resting" is so strenuous that newspaper correspondents find it difficult to keep up with him. One of his former neighbors said to him, "It is more than ten years since I have seen you, but you haven't changed much." To which "The Tiger" responded, "Don't try to make me believe my mustache was white all my life!"

M. Clemenceau is a fine illustration of the homely saying that one is as old as one feels. In the heart and being of this great statesman of France springs the fountain of perpetual youth.

Mark Twain had it. Oliver Wendell Holmes had it. Many eminent men and women of this and other lands were youthful in spirit and in energy far into the wintry years of life. Recall these beautiful lines of Dr. Holmes, the genial humorist:

"Call him not old, whose visionary brain
 Holds o'er the past its undivided reign;
 For him in vain the envious seasons roll
 Who bears eternal summer in his soul."

If yet the minstrel's song, the poet's lay,
 Spring with her birds, or children
 With their play,
 Or maiden's smile, or heavenly dream
 Of art,
 Stir the warm life-drop creeping
 Round his heart—
 Turn to the record where his years
 Are told—
 Count his gray hairs—they cannot Make him old!"

Good Prospects

Fresno Republican
 There is encouraging news in the statement of Congressman Barbour that it is almost a concluded fact that neither political party wishes to make the peace treaty a campaign issue and that, therefore, the two factions will get together during the next month and compromise the league of nations and ratify the peace treaty. Congressman Barbour doubtless does not claim to be the spokesman of any program, but he has just come from the immediate circles in Washington, where the decision will be made, and knows the atmosphere there. Unless something should subsequently happen to reverse plans, he can scarcely be mistaken.

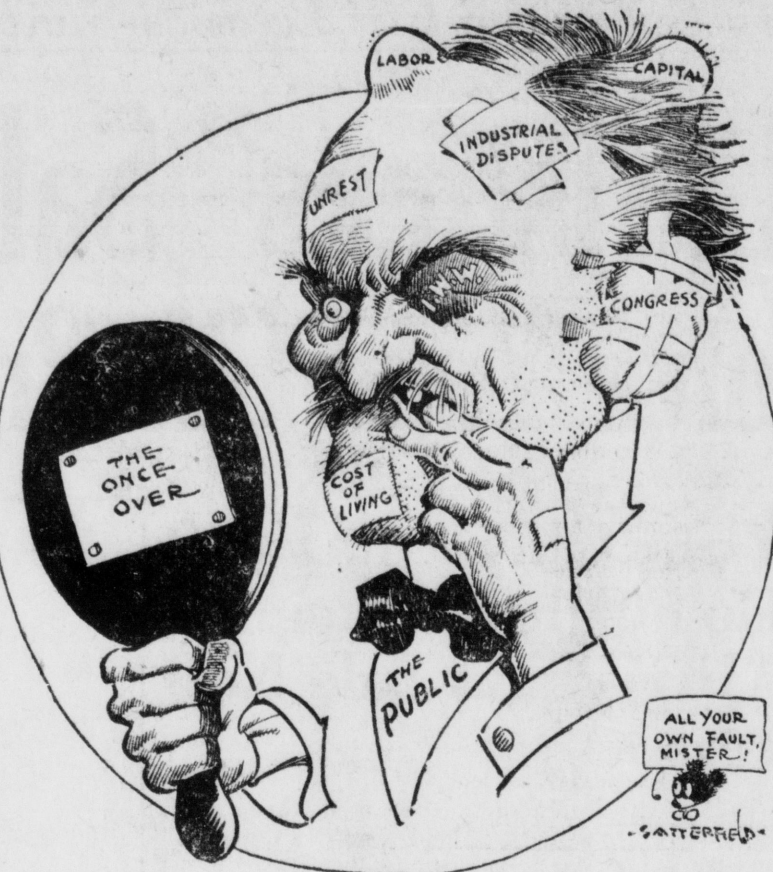

And whether it turns out this way or not, this is certainly what ought to happen. It ought to happen, first, because it is right, in the interest of the world. But it should happen, secondly, because it is the only political way out. The people are tired of this whole question. They want it behind them. It can be put behind by passing the treaty, but not by rejecting it. If we do the usual thing, the thing that the rest of the world has done, then our part of the job entailed is merged in the problem of the rest of the world. We shall do whatever is necessary, internationally (we shall have to do that anyway), but we will do it as a matter of course without making an issue over it. If, on the other hand, we defy the rest of the world, and reject the treaty, the issue is still alive and will remain under dispute at least two years. We ought not to impose the consequences of that dispute on the world, and our politicians certainly do not care to impose political consequences on themselves.

It is time to finish this treaty dispute, in the only way that will finish it. There are other things to do.

The "Santa Ana"

Brea Progress
 Now we really know what a Santa Ana is. We have heard of it since we have been here. It is a little baby Arizona sandstorm. It neither howls like a blizzard or roars like a cyclone, but it makes a lot of fuss and noise just the same. It shrieks, and whistles, and rattles the windows, and shakes the doors, and mixes up the telephones and makes a wonderful bluff at what it is going to do—but doesn't do it. It tries to be damaging—but is only disagreeable.

"OLD TIMER, YOU'RE A SIGHT"

We Fiddle While Rome Burns—Oh, The Pity of It!

(John G. Capper, in the Chicago Tribune)

The world is hungry for the things we eat, wear and use. Stark Hungry! The cupboard is bare as a bone. Prices mount to staggering figures and the cry of our worker is—more pay; shorter hours—and then a shortage shoots the price of things up another notch; again the cry—more pay; less hours.

Ye Gods! Must the vicious circle continue? Shall we never see that it is more hours we need, that to reduce the cost of the things we use, we must produce not less but more?

I just received a cablegram from my brother in London, reading, "Market bare, prices awful, hopeless, sailing home. Oh, if Americans would grasp their opportunity."

Prices had gotten so high in this country and merchandise so scarce, we sent two of our firm abroad, hoping to find what we needed and at lower prices. The cable message is the answer! Merchandise is even shorter on the other side than here. They want to buy—to buy from America—to buy the things that Americans make—and the answer of our workers is—reduce our hours—44 hours a week instead of 60—a cut in production of 25 per cent.

The writer sympathizes with those who work. He understands what hard work, privation and the struggle of life is—he has lived it. He has walked eight miles a day to earn fifty cents, carrying water for the workers who built the town of Pullman. He has gotten out of bed at 3:00 o'clock to milk fifteen cows on a winter's morning. He has put in fifteen hours a day in a store. He is not a natural born plutocrat; rather—he is the son of a steel worker. He feels that he knows the needs of those who struggle—but anyone would be, indeed, foolish who failed to see that the waste of time by carpenter, plumber or other worker in turn raised the price of rent, raised the price of the very clothes that he himself wore, and everything used by him or his fellow worker.

Short hours in the city has made the farm worker restless; he, too, wants short hours and increased pay. May kind Providence preserve us if farm workers ever insist on 44 hours per week, or an eight-hour day. You and I, my friend, will go hungry. I farm 800 acres and I know what short hours in the city is doing for the farm.

We may keep high wages, we may keep our present scale, and still reduce the cost of living by a simple remedy—work—good, hard, honest, faithful service—not eight hours, rather ten and then some. Let us for one year, at least, resolve to work, and work like Hell!

Worth While Verses

Son, throned upon my knee—
 Son, ruling in my heart
 I am fulfilled in thee,
 Knowing no life apart.

If on the rocking wave
 Thy little bark must drown,
 There must I find a grave—
 There must my soul go down.

Into thy being tossed,
 With thee I fail or win;
 Saved in thy strife or lost,
 Mine is thy very sin.

Thy nobleness, thy power,
 Shall lift me to thy grace;
 My life is but thy dower,
 And thine my dwelling place.

Son, throned upon my knee,
 Thine am I to destroy:
 Oh, be thou great for me—
 Build me a deathless joy!

RESOLUTION EXPRESSES HER VIEWS UPON MILITARISM

Santa Ana Nov. 29, 1919.
 Editor Register: Will you please publish in the Forum the enclosed card, which I have just received from Washington, D. C., from the American Union Against Militarism:

MRS. C. G. HUBERT.
 605 West Second street.
 The card referred to by Mrs. Hubert contains resolutions passed by the Southern Methodist Conference at Greenville, S. C., on October 28, reading as follows:

"There is a bill pending before our national congress which, if enacted into law, will require of the youth of this country universal military training. This, we believe, would foster unduly in our young men, unacquainted with actual war, a spirit of militarism from which in the past we as a nation have been happily free, and against which we should guard with a constant jealousy, because we desire nothing that smacks of German militarism, even though it bear the name of American militarism."

"Furthermore, there is no need of universal military training in the interim of war in order to have good soldiers in time of war, as our whole past history proves most convincingly by the fact that our armies have been uniformly victorious. The fighting record of our boys in France, to say nothing of the government's proud boast that the recent war was fought in order to prevent future wars, prove most conclusively that universal military training should not be desired and is not needed for national security, or for American victory if war should be thrust upon us."

"We, therefore, as a patriotic Christian organization, set for the triumph of the gospel of Jesus Christ, respectfully urge our senators and members of the house to use their high offices and personal influence to prevent the enactment of a law requiring universal military training, or any other law that will unduly foster militarism."

SANTA ANA ELKS STEADY

UNDER EARTHQUAKE SHOCK
 Santa Ana Elks, twenty-one in number, who were in the Elks party that journeyed through El Centro and on down to the Mexican border at Calexico have a number of experiences to tell, and not the least humorous is one that developed about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Every Elk was sound asleep at the Barbara Worth hotel when suddenly he was aroused.

"Earthquake!"
 Visions of ruin flashed through the mind of each Elk. There was a decided temptation to jump out of bed and beat it in nightie or pajamas, whichever the particular Elk happened to wear. The open plains of the valley had a charm just then.

But not an Elk stirred. Each calmly staid by his post, the bedpost, determined to take it bravely come what might.

How long some of them stood chillily waiting for the next shock to rattle the windows, none will say. No doubt every one of them had the same impulse as that of a woman who was staying in the hotel. After that first shock she waited, and waited, and waited!

Suddenly she seized the telephone and got the clerk of the hotel on the other end of the wire.

"Please, mister," pleaded she "when is the next shock coming?"
 "Well, madam," said the clerk "the Ruler of the Universe has not let me in on the earthquake floor of this proposition. I'd like to know myself. If you get any advance information, please let me in on it."

She may be waiting yet for that second shock, for up to the time the Santa Anans left it had not arrived.

"I Have Loved Hours at Sea"

I have loved hours at sea, gray cities,
The fragile secrets of a flower,
Music, the making of a poem
That gave me heaven for an hour.

First stars above a snowy hill,
Voices of people kindly and wise,
And the great look of love, long hidden,
Found at last in meeting eyes.

I have loved much and been loved much and been loved deeply—
Oh, when my spirit's fire burns low,
Leave me the darkness and the stillness,
I shall be tired and glad to go.

—(Sara Teasdale in Harper's Magazine.)

Adams-Williams Nuptials

A wedding which will come as a surprise to their many friends was solemnized in the study of the First Christian church, Wednesday, November 28, at 2:30 p. m., the contracting parties being Eugene Adams and Miss Gladys Williams, Rev. F. T. Porter officiating.

The bride is the winsome and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams of 402 Cypress avenue, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Adams of this city.

The bride was attractively gowned in a cream tulle suit with accessories to match.

Both young folks are popular students of Santa Ana High School and have a host of friends who will wish them every happiness.

The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left in their auto for honeymoonland, their destination being unknown to even their closest friends.

Gay Birthday Party

Over a score of friends of Miss Alfrida Jones gave her a jolly surprise Friday evening, when they called at her home, 1221 East Fourth street, to help her celebrate her eighteenth birthday.

Music and games caused the evening to pass most enjoyably and refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served. The cake was a large, white, birthday confection, adorned with eighteen tiny pink candles.

Miss Jones is one of the most popular girls of her set and her many friends wish her many happy returns of the day.

Fifth Birthday Celebrated

A gay birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. William Richards, 906 West First street, Saturday afternoon when she entertained in honor of her nephew, Eugene Figueroa, of Los Angeles.

Poinsettias were used to decorate the rooms, giving a very cheerful effect and a large white birthday cake with five white candles was placed before the honored guest.

A jolly afternoon was spent playing games and Leola McDonald sang a very pretty little birthday song.

The following children were present:

Jeanette Brown, Evelyn Fairley, Leola McDonald, Norman Paul, Richard Williams, Claude Garcia, William Fairley, Harold Williams and the honor guest, Eugene Figueroa.

The meeting of the high school P. T. A. association will be held in the music room at the high school Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Farewell Surprise Party

Miss Arroya Becker gave a farewell surprise party Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Celia Halladay, who is leaving on a visit to her son, living at Beaumont, Cal., and for Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Halladay and charming little daughter, Betty, who are going to Balboa to live.

The members of the party gathered at Miss Becker's home, 702 East Chestnut street, and journeyed to the Halladay residence, corner of Halladay and Chestnut streets, together.

An enjoyable evening was spent in playing games. In the ladies' peanut race, Mrs. A. B. Chandler won first prize and Mrs. Maynard received the consolation prize. V. A. Barrow won first prize in the men's race, A. B. Chandler, the consolation.

Light refreshments consisting of sandwiches, hot chocolate and wafers were served cafeteria style.

Beside the guests of honor, those present were Miss Gertrude Maynard, Meddames Barney Becker, Maynard, Mead, C. F. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Boucher, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Barrow.

Boys' Class Has Meeting

The Boy Ruster Sunday school class of the Methodist Church, South, met Friday evening at the home of their teacher, C. C. Widney, at his home, 312 Bush street, to spend a jolly evening playing games. Refreshments were served late in the evening.

Class members, who took part in the gaiety were Charlie Widney, Claude Cox, Vernon Pee, Arnold Elliott, Edward O'Rear, Robert Vawter, John Donan, Wallace Walton, Ralph Summerville and their teacher, Mr. Widney.

For Son's Natal Day

Mrs. Floyd E. Knight gave a very pretty birthday party Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the third birthday of her son.

Poinsettias and house ferns gave a very cosy and effective appearance to the rooms.

Games and Victrola music were the chief diversions of the afternoon. Georgina Irvin and Billy Warhurst captured the prizes for the games.

Late in the afternoon the children were seated in small red chairs around a miniature table, centered with a white birthday cake. Mrs. Frank Harris assisted Mrs. Knight with the serving of delicious refreshments.

Many pretty gifts were received by the honored young man.

The guest list included Mrs. J. Mc-

Culston and son, Howard, Mrs. Geo. Paul, Jr. and son, George, Mrs. John Irvin and daughter, Georgina, Mrs. Frank Sawyer and daughter, Margaret Ellen, Mrs. Sim Harris and children, Amy Jane and Banden, Mrs. E. Warhurst and children, Jeanette and Billy, Mrs. Walter Gully and daughter, Marjorie, Mrs. D. Danner and son Lloyd of Orange, and Mrs. Joe Wilke and children, Helene and Jack, of Covina.

FUND DRIVE FOR HOLDERMAN NOW JEWISH RELIEF IS STARTED

Santa Ana Jews Preparing to Launch Their Campaign Here

Santa Ana Jews today are making plans for a drive for relief of Jewish sufferers in Europe, principally in Poland and Ukraine, where the number of victims is said to be about 3,000,000. They are not really war sufferers, but victims of massacres and persecution as a result of the anarchy following, according to statements issued.

The nation-wide drive for a $55,000,000 fund started today. Jews throughout the state have been making preparation for the drive, and Santa Ana Jews will take up the work in the very near future. There are many Jewish families in the city and county. As yet local Jews have not been advised as to whether soliciting will be limited to their race or whether Gentiles will be asked to contribute to the relief of the distressed people in Europe.

Many of the prominent Jews of the city are deeply interested in the drive and will not only contribute of their own funds, but will engage in actual canvass work. Committees have not as yet been appointed.

Col. N. M. Holderman and his wife and two children left on Saturday for Yountville, Napa county, where today he was scheduled to take charge of the Soldiers' Home as its commandant.

Holderman was appointed commandant about a month ago by Governor W. D. Stephens. Holderman secured the appointment upon his record as a soldier. Recommendations from numerous superior officers showed that he had good ability along the line of work that he will have at the Soldiers' Home. His record as a fighter was also one of the determining factors in his selection.

DRAFT DODGING IS CHARGED BY WIFE IN SUIT

New Angle Bared In Action
Over Lot at Laguna
Beach Today

Allegations that Thomas Smith, former soldier, who is suing his wife for the return of a lot at Laguna Beach, sought to evade military service, were contained in an answer which was filed in superior court today through Attorney Clyde Bishop for Cornithia L. Smith, the wife.

The paper filed today was in reply to a suit instituted by Smith on October 4, in which he alleged that upon his discharge from service difficulties arose between him and his wife and that a settlement was agreed upon whereby he deeded her the Laguna lot. The agreement was reached following representations by Mrs. Smith to the effect, Smith alleged, that she had at all times been faithful to her marriage vows to him. Some time after the settlement was reached, Smith declared, he learned what he called the falsity of the wife's representations.

It was recited in Mrs. Smith's answer that for a long time prior to the institution of the suit she had neglected, failed and refused to provide her with common necessities of life, and had compelled her to depend upon her own resources for her support and maintenance. It was further alleged that when Smith was about to be inducted into the military service, and in order to defeat his induction and to evade the performance of his duty as a soldier, he falsely informed the defendant that if she would make an affidavit that she was dependent upon him for her support and maintenance that he would return to her, support and maintain her.

Needed His Aid, Claim

Mrs. Smith alleged in her answer that at that time she was sick and in ill health and needed Smith's support and maintenance and was prevailed upon by Smith to make the affidavit in question, and that, as a result of this Smith was exempted from military service, and immediately thereafter went to Catalina Island and informed Mrs. Smith that he would not support or maintain her in any way.

Mrs. Smith then went on to say that following this she informed the local board for Division No. 1 of Orange county of the facts in the case and that Smith, in order to escape the penalties for evading military service, withdrew his claim of exemption and was inducted into the military service.

During the time that Smith was in the military service, Mrs. Smith alleged, she came into possession of his trunk and found letters in it, alleged to have been written by women to Smith, who convinced Mrs. Smith, she said, that Smith had been intimate with other women.

Mrs. Smith alleged that on Smith's return from the military service, she confronted him with his alleged conduct and that, in order to induce her not to bring legal proceedings against him for support and maintenance, Smith offered to execute the agreement in question and to pay her $900.

File in Intervention

Several weeks after Smith filed his action, a complaint in intervention was filed by Attorney John A. Harvey of this city on behalf of Albert E. Tanberg and his wife, Ella H. Tanberg, who claimed to be the real owners of the lot at Laguna.

At the time of the filing of the Tanberg suit Attorney Harvey stated that Mrs. Smith became the owner of the property about three years ago. On October 1, four days prior to the filing of her husband's suit against her, she deeded the property to the Tanbergs, according to Harvey.

Smith in his suit asked that in addition to having the lot re-conveyed to him he have judgment against his wife for money he claimed to have paid her under the alleged agreement between them. He said he had paid her $50 a month since May 15 of the present year.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "purify" the blood. 10c and 25c.

Rich Mystery Widow Revives Appeal Hope of George Fox

HIS hope that new life would come into his appeal to the State Supreme court apparently having been revived by the visit of a wealthy, mysterious widow from New York, George A. Fox, convicted of embezzlement, today was expected to announce in Los Angeles whether or not the appeal would be revived.

Recently Fox said that he intended to give up his fight against his sentence to San Quentin. Saturday John L. Richardson, Fox's attorney, was called to the Los Angeles county jail to consult with the widow.

It was said that money might be forthcoming for Fox's appeal. The name of the New York woman was not learned.

Fox was convicted in the Los Angeles courts of defrauding Mrs. Anna G. Walters out of $5,106.25.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Walters, in the local Superior court, was awarded a judgment of $75,000 in a suit brought by her more than a year ago over a ranch near Anaheim, out of which she alleged Fox had defrauded her by lover's wiles.

CASE CONTINUED

The case of Jeronimo Hernandez, whom Mariano Casillas accused of assault with a deadly weapon at Buena Park, was continued until Tuesday at 2 o'clock, when the preliminary examination is scheduled to be held. Hernandez was charged with drawing a knife on Casillas, during a fracas.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

A plea of not guilty was entered by Kenneth Coulson, charged with careless driving in connection with an accident on North Main street, when a machine driven by him collided with one driven by William Umberham, and Coulson's trial today is on the justice court calendar for December 23 at 10 o'clock. Stanley M. Reinhaus is attorney for Coulson.

Manager of Tavern Testifies
In Action For $10,000
Damages

Testimony, substantially as set forth in her complaint, was given before Superior Judge Williams today at the opening of the trial of the action brought by Earl W. Kissinger, proprietor, and Flora A. Justus, manager of the Arch Beach Tavern, against Joe Skidmore and Catherine A. Brooks, proprietors of the Laguna Beach Water Company, and in which the plaintiffs sought a judgment of $10,000 because of alleged violations on the part of the defendants with reference to an agreement under which water was to be supplied to the hotel.

It was alleged by the plaintiffs that Skidmore at various periods diverted water from a pipeline leading to the hotel, using the water for irrigation purposes. According to the complaint, Skidmore pastured stock in an enclosure where a spring, feeding the water system, is located, thereby contaminating the water supply.

The alleged damages asked by the plaintiffs were caused as a result of the alleged fact that on several occasions guests had to be turned away from the hotel, owing to lack of water.

The suit was filed through Attorney Harry B. Washburn and G. M. Caldwell, of Los Angeles. Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus are attorneys for the defendants.

$200,000 HOTEL PROJECT FOR FULLERTON

Plans Are Now Being Drawn For a Three-Story Building

FULLERTON, Dec. 1.—A company is being incorporated to build a fine tourist hotel on the corner of Spadra and Whiting streets. The plans are being drawn by the architect for a three-story, up-to-date fireproof hotel to cost not less than $200,000. It will have about fifty rooms. The first floor will have a fine lobby besides a number of fine rooms for store purposes. The design will be beautiful and attractive, up to the minute in furnishings that will be the pride of every citizen.

While the people interested in organizing this company and building the hotel have no trouble to secure the necessary funds for all purposes on the sale of the stock, yet they propose to put a block of stock on the local market, expecting the home people to be sufficiently interested to take some stock. Some representative citizens of Fullerton will be on the board of directors and in a way, it will be a home enterprise. A permit will be issued by the state incorporation commissioner to sell this stock, and every dollar on the sale of stock will pass through the hands of the directors of the local board.

The house of Meade Company of Los Angeles, bond and stock brokers, who make a specialty of financing just such propositions, have been induced to undertake the financing of this enterprise.

SHOT DUCKS, GEESSE ON TRIP TO NORTH

L. B. Babbitt, proprietor of the Crystal Cleaning company, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Garroway, returned last night from a two weeks automobile trip north beyond Sacramento, bringing reports of wonderful roads now open on both the coast and inland routes, and just as wonderful reports of the shooting which they enjoyed in Glenn county, around Willows where they visited relatives of Mrs. Garroway. Willows is the center of the great rice district and there is game in abundance, so the party had ducks, geese and quail on the table as often as they liked, and in addition sent some of the birds home to Santa Ana.

The roads now open to the north are described as wonderful, especially the Ridge route which has just been opened, with a paved road clear to Sacramento. The party returned via the coast route and found it paved with the exception of a 20 mile stretch in Santa Barbara county.

After Sickness

Nothing restores Strength and Vitality as quickly as Vinol, our Cod Liver and Iron Tonic.

Mrs. Moore Proved This:

Warsaw, Ind.—"Influenza left me terribly weak and anemic and with no appetite. I could not even walk around the house without being all exhausted, and as I am a housewife I had to have help. I tried tonics and doctors without benefit. I read about Vinol, and four bottles built me up and restored my strength, and I have several friends who were benefited in the same way by its use."—MRS. CHARLES MOORE.

Weak, anemic persons of all ages are promptly benefited by this famous tonic. We are so sure it is better than any other that we will give

RELIGION WILL TAKE BLOSSOM OFF NOSE

Lumberjack Evangelist Made Striking Remarks at Zion Church Last Evening

Religion won't change your physical structure, it will not make your nose any longer or any shorter—it will just take the blossom off of it and keep it out of other people's business. This is the doctrine that Dave Hill, the lumberjack evangelist, promoted in his evening address at the Zion's Evangelical church last evening, when he took as his topic "The Soul of Man."

The evangelistic meetings started out yesterday with a vim. He spoke to capacity houses both morning and evening. This unique preacher was at his best and captured his hearers and held them spellbound as he unfolded his ideas of good religion. His subject yesterday morning was "Praying or Saying Prayers." His subject tonight will be "The Devil, and Where Did He Come From."

Here are some of the striking sentences in his sermon last night:

"Some people say they sin and don't know it, well if a man sins and don't know it, how does he know that he sins?"

"If one of these fellows who sins and doesn't know it, moves into my neighborhood, I will lock my hen-roost for he might steal every chicken I've got and not know it."

"God doesn't answer the prayer of a man who puts the dog down in the cellar when the assessor comes round, but if he should get religion he will go and hunt up the assessor and tell him where the dog was and pay the dollar tax."

"If you will notice the people that ride around in their automobile on Sunday and never go to church, you will see some people who seem to be going to hell on the gasoline route."

"A man's soul is too great for this world. He can never satisfy its cravings in this world. God created it for the next world and provided the things there to satisfy it. So be wise, and seek Eternal life."

S. A. CENSUS TAKERS NOT TO ASK RAISE

There is no move on the part of census takers in this section to ask more money for their services, according to Postmaster C. D. Overshiner, who had in charge the examinations recently held for those desiring positions as official tabulators. At Pasadena, it was stated, the prices offered did not exceed $6 a day, are considered too low for the work and intelligence required and the Los Angeles county office in combination with others, has forwarded to the Census Bureau a statement that higher remuneration is required to get the best quality help as it is only for 30 days, beginning January 2 and ending January 31. As far as Overshiner has been able to determine, census takers who will work in this section will be satisfied with the wages offered. No more examinations will be held here, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Overshiner said.

However, those who did not take the examinations here recently may apply to Charles F. Rowan, supervisors of the census in the ninth district at San Diego. Overshiner stated he was certain that those desiring positions as census takers can yet be placed, provided they qualify.

TAXPAYERS IN LAST RUSH AT COURTHOUSE

County Tax Collector, J. C. Lamb and his assistants at the courthouse today were handling the final rush of business, prior to taxes becoming delinquent at 5 o'clock this evening. The pressure of business today was as great as during any day during the past week or ten days, Lamb said. The office was scheduled to close promptly at 5 o'clock this evening, and no more business was to be handled by the office, except that books would be balanced by a shift which it was believed would have to work until after 10 o'clock tonight. Lamb has had night shifts at work during the past two weeks. It will be about a week before Lamb will be able to state the number of delinquents on the tax list, he said.

FULLERTON HIGH WINS WAY TO TITLE GAME

By Touncing Citrus Here Oil Men Get Chance to Meet Long Beach

With Citrus Union beaten by Fullerton by a score of 51 to 13, and with Santa Monica beaten on the Los Angeles high school gridiron by a score of 21 to 9, Southern California fans interested in the prep school championship today were looking forward to the game to be played Saturday between Fullerton and Long Beach finally to determine the football supremacy of the southland.

In the semi-final game here between Fullerton and Citrus, the oil well men won largely by taking advantage of Citrus mistakes. Blocked kicks, recovered fumbles and intercepted forward passes, all contributed to the Fullerton victory.

The only Fullerton touchdown made with no semblance of a fluke to it came in the fourth period, when Arch Hawkins circled the Citrus right end for a 30-yard dash to the goal line.

By working hard, the Citrus men had made two touchdowns when the first half ended with the score 27 to 13 in favor of Fullerton. By getting the "breaks" the oil men had crossed the Citrus line four times.

Stars of the game were Halback Bell and Tackle Hall of the Citrus squad, who proved themselves two of the best line plungers seen in the south this year.

Forward passes, usually successfully used by Fullerton, were not in evidence. Most of them were telegraphed, and those the eligible men got their hands on were generally dropped.

The lineup follows:

Score by quarters:
Fullerton 14 13 10 14—51
Citrus 7 6 0 0—13

Touchdowns: Fullerton—Jones, Lang, A. Hawkins, 2; Blair, Salter, J. Hawkins. Citrus—Keim, Bell. Goals from touchdowns, J. Hawkins, 6; Bell, 1. Place kick, J. Hawkins.

Substitutions: Fullerton—Earle for Jones, Hale for Osborne, Salter for Wright. Citrus—Rinderknecht for Manning, D. Lamoreau for O. Lamoreau, Wright for Hertenstein, Miller for Rinderknecht, H. Gauldin for Chenoweth.

Officials—Al Radenoch, referee; Ralph Jessom, umpire; Fred Johnson, head linesman.

WIND PUTS SMELTZER PHONES OUT OF ORDER

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Dec. 1.—Results of the heavy wind a week ago are still being felt by the Smeltzer Telephone Company and patrons. The morning following the wind there were but seven lines on the whole exchange in perfect order. Some of the lines remained in to some extent for a few days, then succumbed to the further strain of wind and rain. One long-distance line to Santa Ana has remained intact throughout and the other long-distance lines are being put in order.

A freak of the wind occurred at the W. G. Alford ranch when two twelve-foot joints of four-inch galvanized pipe were picked up from the field and carried over a high fence into the corral.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS NEW REAL ESTATE MEASURE

Operators Must Pay $10 Annually As a Fee For State License

The state law requiring real estate men to take out licenses for the conduct of their business today is operative in California, after a long battle by realtors in the state to secure enactment of legislation that would curb the operations of dishonest operators. The bill passed by the legislature in 1918 has been held constitutional by the state supreme court. Anyone selling, leasing or making loans on real estate will be required to pay an annual license fee of $10 and an additional fee of $2 for each salesman employed.

A bill of this character was first passed in 1914, but was vetoed. It was passed again in 1917 and signed, later being declared unconstitutional by the supreme court on the ground that it exempted certain lines of business. It was passed in August 1917, and Freeman H. Bloodgood, now operating in this city with his son, under the firm name of Bloodgood and Son, was appointed state commissioner. His home was in Pasadena at the time. On March 19, 1918, the law again was declared unconstitutional and Bloodgood lost his position. The legislature passed the bill in a new form in 1918 and its operation has been held up until a suit could be brought to determine its legality. Decision by the supreme court Saturday holds the new law constitutional.

Ray L. Riley, of San Bernardino, is state real estate commissioner, and he has announced that Mrs. E. S. Brainard of Los Angeles would be made executive secretary and that S. F. Kelly of San Bernardino would be appointed to take charge of either the San Francisco or Los Angeles office, probably the former.

Would Protect Public
"The law has been enacted for the protection of the public against unscrupulous operators who are to be found in the larger cities," said Bloodgood today, commenting on the supreme court decision sustaining the legislation. "With every man engaged in the business of real estate, it will be easy to locate a man who turns a crooked piece of work."

"It also means that everyone engaged in the business of selling real estate must have a definite place of business. The law requires that his license be displayed at his definite place of business."

"In the larger cities it has often occurred that an unscrupulous man has been crooked in his transactions with the public—he is here today and gone tomorrow with no record by which he can be traced."

"It will result in protection to the public as well as to the legitimate real estate dealer. The commissioner will have the authority to revoke the license of any dealer found guilty of fraud or misrepresentation. It will put the real estate business on a strictly legitimate basis under state supervision."

WEEKLY LUNCHEONS OFF FOR HOLIDAYS

The Chamber of Commerce luncheons held on Wednesday of each week have been declared off until after the holidays. The big rush at this season makes it hard for business men to get away from their stores for an hour at noon, and for this reason it has been deemed best to postpone them for a time.

Wreckers Clear Tracks In Santa Ana Canyon after Crash of Freight Trains

WRECKING crews of the Santa Fe railway at Chester station, in what is known as the Horseshoe Bend section of the Santa Ana canyon, today were completing the work of clearing the tracks, following a head-on collision between two freight trains, in which both locomotives were seriously damaged and seven cars derailed. The accident occurred late Saturday afternoon. It was stated at the Santa Fe offices here today that the crash possibly was the result of a misunderstanding of orders.

An oil tank train, running between San Bernardino and Olinda, had picked up a load at the latter point and was returning to the Gate City. At Chester station this train ran head-on into a fast freight, proceeding from San Bernardino to Los Angeles.

No members of the train crews were injured. Both locomotives were stove in. Six oil-tank cars were derailed and one refrigerator car of the Los Angeles bound freight left the tracks. Wrecking trains were sent from San Bernardino and by 7 o'clock these were at work at the scene of the accident.

It was stated at the division office at San Bernardino today that the oil train was in charge of Conductor J. Forbes and that the fast freight was in charge of Conductor William Duncan. The names of the engine crews were not given out.

It was believed that the work of clearing the wreckage from the tracks would be completed today.

ROAD OVER HILL WILL BE OPEN WITHIN NEXT TEN DAYS

Santa Ana Canyon Paving May Be Finished Early In January

Within the next week or ten days the pavement over Sulphur Slide hill will be open for travel, and the troublesome road at the edge of the Santa Ana river at Sulphur Slide may soon be a thing of the past.

Steele Finley, who has the contract for the paving of the canyon road from Peralta to a point above Sulphur Slide, finished pouring cement on the portion of the job over the hill some time ago. County Surveyor McBride has been keeping traffic off of the road in order to give it ample time to cure. Good paving has been ruined by allowing traffic to get upon it too soon, and it is not McBride's intention to allow this road to be damaged by getting traffic upon it until the cement is well set.

The paving has been kept wet. Just as fast as Finley finishes pouring cement, dirt checks are thrown across the paving and water is kept standing on the concrete.

The paving between Peralta and the west side of Sulphur Hill will be finished in January. At least, the contractor feels sure that the middle of January will find his work completed. There have been some delays, due to labor condition, but recently things have been moving along very well. When the mixer is in good shape and there is plenty of help, Finley lays from 350 to 400 feet of road a day.

Open in February
At the county surveyor's office it was stated that the whole strip of new pavement ought to be open for travel by the middle of February.

The rains of last week put the by-pass from Peralta to the east side of Sulphur Hill in rough shape in spots. Of course, it is going to be hard to keep up a good by-pass, but every effort is to be used to make traveling as easy as possible. A heavy rain continuing over two or three days might make the road impassable for a short time, but it is hoped both here and in Riverside and other interior cities that the by-pass will be in travelable condition throughout the winter.

The opening of the pavement over Sulphur Hill will do away with one of the most troublesome portions of the by-pass. That portion of the road around the hill has been kept in very good shape up to the time the rain of last week came. That rain rendered a few spots extremely slippery. Drivers of several big truck loads of hay refused to venture taking the by-pass Friday night, as well they might.

When the contract that Steele Finley has completed, the whole of the Santa Ana canyon road will be paved. By placing the road over Sulphur Hill the possibility of having the road washed out by the treachery of the Santa Ana river at the base of Sulphur Hill will be done away with.

LEGION DANCE WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY

ORANGE, Dec. 1.—The American Legion hall, set for Wednesday evening, promises to be the biggest event from the standpoint of attendance and public interest of the social affairs of the year.

Indications are that not only will the service men and their friends be present in large number from Orange, but that many will attend from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and Placentia. The general public is invited and it intends to come.

Prominent Visitor
Mrs. Chaffee and son of Waukesha, Wis., friends of Miss Mary A. R. Losch, arrived recently to spend the winter in Orange. Mr. Chaffee, the noted prohibition lecturer, and former candidate for president of the United States, is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Chaffee. Mr. Chaffee returned recently with his daughter from Australia, where he had been on a temperance lecture tour. He together with his wife and daughter are now located at Long Beach, having sold their fine home in Tucson, Arizona, where they formerly resided.

No Opposition to Bonds
Returns from the Villa Park $5000 school bond election show that the bonds carried by a vote of 37 to 0 against.

The bonds are to provide funds for completing the school building now under construction.

Personals
Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jones, who have been living in Inglewood, are moving to El Modena, where they will build and make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Root have arrived from Havana, North Dakota, for an extended visit with Mr. Root's sister, Mrs. H. J. Buhrman.

Red Cross Seals To Help Provide Open Air Schools

MISS ETHEL A. BEAL

Teacher In Detroit Serves Milk to Pupils During Rest Periods

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 1.—On the top of the Detroit Municipal Hospital building, Miss Ethel A. Beal conducts the Keifer open-air school, and she is proving every day that tuberculosis can be prevented among children and that the little victims of it can be cured. All of the best methods for fighting tuberculosis are used in the school.

The children study and recite in the open, except when the weather is too stormy. Then two indoor assembly rooms, well ventilated and with windows opened, are utilized. Every morning and afternoon there is a rest period, when Miss Beal serves a glass of milk to each of the pupils. Her students are not allowed to fall back in their studies. Under her instruction, while they are in the school, they are kept up with the work of the public grades, so that when they are cured they return to the classes which they left, ready to go on with them.

It is estimated that 12,000 children die every year in the nation from tuberculosis. More open air schools like Miss Beal's are needed, and the National Tuberculosis Association, with 1,000 local and state organizations affiliated with it, is planning to provide them through the sale of more than $6,500,000 worth of Red Cross Christmas Seals this coming Christmas.

AGENT OF HOOVER TO HELP GERMAN RELIEF

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—Captain Arthur Ringland of Montclair, N. J., has arrived here from Prague, where he is Herbert Hoover's representative, to consult with German officials for better establishing the work of the Society of Friends through the relief administration and the European children's fund for feeding German children at Prague.

This group now is feeding half a million children daily, he said.

DAIRYMEN FORM ASSOCIATION IN SOUTH

A Southern California Association of breeders of Holstein-Friesian dairy cattle has been formed. A number of Orange county dairymen are interested in the success of the association.

George M. Brown of Los Angeles, has been elected president of the association and P. H. Krick of Anaheim, who has a number of fine cows, is treasurer of the association. A. J. Stadler, owner of the famous Stadler ranch in Riverside county, is vice-president, and R. A. Condee of the George Junior Republic, is secretary.

The first meeting of the new association will be held at the Stadler ranch in Riverside county on December 11th. The fourth meeting of the association is scheduled for San Bernardino county and will be held at the county farm. The organization has as its purpose the improvement of breeding, feeding and selling of thoroughbred dairy cattle.

STOLE SIGNED CHECKS; RECEIVED CASH ON ONE

Some one is gaining by $11 by reason of the habit of Frank Musselman in signing blank checks in his check book in advance of their use. Two of the checks recently were stolen from his desk, and according to a report to the city marshal one of them was cashed at the Edgar grocery by a man giving the name of W. D. Smith. The man had made the check out for $11, payable to himself.

Another check, No. 1476, is still out and business men are advised to notify the officers if some one attempts to cash it.

TAKING STEPS TO REVIVE LAW TO SAVE HOUR OF DAYLIGHT

Movement Started In Los Angeles For Re-enactment of Bill By Congress

With the farming communities very much opposed to the daylight saving law and business men and clerks, as a rule, favoring the law, there is possibility of concerted action by business interests in Southern California to have the national law re-enacted or to have the coast states join in passing bills that will make the hours available in the states.

The Los Angeles Board of Trade has gone on record as favoring the reviving of the legislation and the board at Pasadena will take action sometime this week. Business interests in other sections of the state also have the matter up for consideration.

No attempt has been made to ascertain the attitude of the business men of Santa Ana. Directors of the M. and M. and Chamber of Commerce went on record as opposing the repeal of the daylight saving law. President Wilson vetoed the bill repealing the daylight saving law and congress passed it over his opposition.

It is considered more than likely that agitation for revival of the law will extend all over the Pacific coast that will eventually lead to the enactment of a law that will give this nation of the country an additional hour of daylight. Opposition from agricultural and other interests is expected to develop. Those who favor the plan urge it as an economical measure and as of vast benefit to the day toiler. With the earlier hour for ending the day's work, time is given for recreation that does not obtain under the present time schedule.

About Evenly Divided
It is said that the business men of this city are about evenly divided on the proposition, with those who favor it and those who oppose it indifferent—satisfied with either.

Citrus farmers in Southern California readily signed the petition to congress asking for the repeal of the daylight saving law, their position being that workers were handicapped in having to go to work in the orchards at the earlier hour in the morning because of dew on the trees and the workers refusing to go to work an hour later and quitting an hour later. The workers in the orchards hour as keen for the earlier quitting hour as for the earlier working hour.

With other cities in the state taking concerted action, it is possible that Santa Ana will sooner or later begin taking a definite position on the question. While it is practically certain that considerable difficulty would be experienced in an attempt to place such a measure before congress again, the fact remains that there is nothing to prevent the states of the Pacific coast, through their respective legislatures, from enacting such legislation.

WHY PULL ARM OUT OF PLACE STARTING FORD

"Why pull an arm out of place these cold mornings in cranking a Ford when it can be made easy to start by freeing the disc from the transmission," asks Ham.

Ham has a method of treating the Ford that makes the engine easy to start on cold mornings or any other morning, for that matter, which he claims is a secret development resulting from his long experience in "doctoring" Henry's.

Ham is looking for people from Missouri.

Reasons Why I Like To Trade At Gerrard Bros. Stores

Here you find the best of everything in the grocery line.

Being arranged alphabetically easy to find just what you want, always marked in plain figures.

They make good all they advertise and give one the highest market price on eggs. One saves pennies, and it takes them to make the dollars and as the $ don't seem to go as far as they used to, it's essential to save them.

The adding machine is much appreciated, always correct and expedites the work. If they do advertise that they have the homeliest butchers in town, they have the choicest of Government inspected meats in their markets.

Their growing popularity is indicated by the enlargement of the West End Store, that was much needed to take care of their ever increasing trade.

Pleasing personality of all clerks with a real desire to please a customer.

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good—cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"—when someone guesses your age at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make an heroic effort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.

When you sense a feeling of slowing down of your physical forces—when your stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs show signs of weakness—when you notice a lack of your old time "pep" and "punch"—in other words, when you feel your vitality on the wane, you should commence at once to restore your energy, strength and endurance by taking

TALBERT NOTES

TALBERT, Dec. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells entertained a party of friends at their home over the week end. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wells, who have just returned from South Dakota where they spent the summer. They were accompanied by Mrs. Desire Wells of San Pedro, with whom they are staying at present and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, also of San Pedro.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harper entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner a party of relatives and friends which included their sons, Robert Harper and wife, of Talbert and Harry Harper and wife and the latter's mother, Mrs. Lena Patterson of Huntington Beach. In the afternoon the snow on the mountains looked so tempting close that the party concluded to drive to the snow line but by the time Anaheim was reached the weather was found to be so chilly that they gave up the idea and returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert drove Thursday to Whittier where they were Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Talbert's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pettit.

L. T. Wells has a daughter, Mrs. Clyde Gilbert, her husband and children Alpha, Deda, Lolo, William and Doyle as guests at his home. The family came from Nebraska and arrived here on Sunday.

John Parker and family of Orange, were guests Sunday at the Jess Davis home.

J. G. Parsons, proprietor of the local store in Los Angeles on Thanksgiving and witnessed the novelty of snow lined scenery there. The Talbert school extending from the four days vacation extending from Wednesday to the Grover ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Davis entertained as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Greenville Preston of Orange. The Prestons were old friends of the Davies at Poplar Bluffs, Mo., from which place they arrived Saturday. They expect to make their home in this state.

Mrs. L. T. Wells was taken ill on Thursday with tonsillitis and was confined to her bed as a result.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Giesler and their family were entertained Thursday at the Samuel Giesler home at Huntington Beach. Twenty-two partook of the Thanksgiving dinner served by the hostess.

A Christmas program to be given at the local school is being prepared by teachers and pupils.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells and family, son, C. W. Wells and his daughters, Celia and Viola and their houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and family drove to San Pedro and spent the day with relatives. Thanksgiving was spent by the same party at the C. W. Wells home where a big dinner in keeping with the hol-

Eighty-Six More Wells Producing Than In November Last Year

FULLERTON, Dec. 1.—Development work throughout the oil fields of Southern California closed strong with the ending of November. Activity in general throughout the fields of the southland. One hundred and twenty wells are drilling. A year ago the field showed 108 well drilling. The number of producers now number 856 wells, a year ago 770 wells were producing, making 86 wells completed since November, 1918. The daily output a year ago was approximately 78,000 barrels, while today the southern field is making 82,000. Close to 300 men are now being employed in the development of the oil resources of Southern California and the monthly payroll covering this great army of oil workers runs close to $250,000 a month.

Fullerton Shows Improvement
The Fullerton Oil Company's Travis No. 1, after being on a pumping test for three weeks, is showing more oil than ever before. The production is now estimated at about 25 barrels. With this 25 barrels of oil a large quantity of salt water is coming constantly. In case the water does not decrease soon a test will be made to locate its entrance and an effort made to shut it off. On the Anaheim lease at Placentia the Fullerton Oil Company's No. 1 is drilling in hard sand at 1600 feet.

After laboring with the heaving sand for a couple of months the Amalgamated has succeeded in cleaning out Ibbotson No. 1, mudded up the hole and is now making new hole at 3320. The formation at this depth is brown shale, with no oil indications as yet.

At 3300 feet the Clark Oil Company set a string of 8 1/2 pipe and the well will be allowed to stand a couple of weeks.

The Standard Oil Company's Kraemer 1-5, brought in ten days ago, a 125-barrel well, developed so much bottom water that it has been re-cemented and is now standing. Kraemer 1-4 is drilling 1750 feet. At Kraemer 1-4 a side-tracking job has prevented any new hole being made for the past week.

Fullerton Company Cements
At 2300 the Fullerton Oil Company has set a string of 12-inch pipe at No. 15. The well will stand for a couple of weeks before the drilling is resumed. The hole is being drilled with grade oil in the well and good time with its use is being made. Superintendent Daily has made a close study of this method of drilling and has set a string of 12-inch pipe at No. 16 and the outlook for carrying casing strings to great depths and ease of speed in making hole in the hard formations.

At Placentia on the Kraemer No. 3 property the Standard has five wells making hole. Number 3 is drilling at 750 feet. No. 4 at 1637, No. 5 at 1920 feet and No. 6 at 140, and No. 7 at 1134 feet. The Collins well on property adjoining the Kraemer on the west is cleaning out and a further effort is being made to make the well produce. The Collins well was completed more than three months ago, but has baffled every attempt made to get the well cleaned out and in producing condition.

Columbia Will Drill More Wells
The Columbia Oil Company will develop its Brea holdings extensively as announced recently. A new well has been started on the Orange lease and on the Pico property south of the Orange a well will begin drilling as soon as the preparations are completed. Both leases are old properties, but deep wells are expected to bring good wells.

At 3100 feet the Brea Canyon Oil Company's No. 31 is still drilling in an oil sand struck 600 feet up. The long stretch of 3300 continues to look good and the outlook for one of the biggest wells in the Brea Canyon district is good when this one is put on the beam. Number 28 is drilling hard shell at 2730 feet and No. 32 is rigged up ready to spud in and commence drilling today.

All eyes are on the development work of the Union Oil Company in the Placentia-Richfield district. The Union has twelve strings of tools running, and present plans calling for the starting of five more new wells as soon as the work of making ready is completed.

FILE ANSWER IN HOG CHAPERONING CASE

Denial of allegations made by Lyon McKinney, in an action for $2700 damages, alleged to have been sustained by him by reason of having been struck in the back by a tongue of a trailer, was continued in an answer which was filed in superior court for Maude Keller, defendant, in the case. The action was instituted on September 9, by Attorney B. E. Tarver of this city. It was alleged that McKinney on September 10, 1918, was riding with his feet on the rear seat of an automobile. The machine was drawing a trailer containing a load of hogs and McKinney watched the animals to prevent them escaping from the trailer, the plaintiff said. As the result of the automobile being struck by one being driven by Maude Keller, the trailer tongue was jammed against McKinney's back, he asserted. Since the accident the plaintiff declared, he has been unable to perform ordinary physical work. The accident occurred five feet north of the Southern Pacific crossing on the highway half way between Santa Ana and Anaheim. The defendant in her answer specifically denies the plaintiff's allegations.

MRS. I. M. WILLIS HAS GAINED 16 POUNDS

Was Not Exactly Sick But Was All Run Down—Built Up by Tanlac

"Tanalac could not have helped me more if it had been made especially for my case," said Mrs. I. M. Willis, living at 5318 1/2 Monets Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., to a Tanlac representative the other day. Continuing, she said: "I was in a miserable run-down condition, not exactly sick but just had that tired feeling all the time. I had little life or energy, but was dull and depressed. I had no appetite and could hardly eat a thing. I could not sleep well at night, as I was very restless, and nervous. I used to weigh 150 pounds; before I realized it I was down to one hundred and thirty-seven, and then I decided it was time to get something to build me up and strengthen me, and as I had heard so much about Tanlac and read so much in the newspapers about the good it was doing, I made up my mind to try it, and just as soon as I commenced taking it I began to feel better. I took three bottles in one month and I gained eight pounds in weight in that month, and I have continued to gain in weight until now I weigh one hundred and fifty-three pounds."

"My appetite is real good again and I enjoy my meals. I sleep fine now and am not at all nervous. I am just getting along fine and am entirely rid of that tired, worn-out feeling and am full of energy. I think Tanlac is simply wonderful and I am telling all my friends about it."

Tanalac is sold in Santa Ana by Rowley Drug Co., in Fullerton by G. W. Finch, in La Habra by R. H. Hilbert, in Huntington Beach by Rigdon's Pharmacy, in Orange by Dittmer's Mission Pharmacy, in Placentia by A. J. Robinson, in Tustin by Tustin Drug Co., in Brea by Brea Pharmacy, in Buena Park by Regal Drug Co., in Garden Grove by O. H. Anderson, in Laguna Beach by Laguna Beach Pharmacy and in Seal Beach by Wm. S. Templeton.

DISSOLVE EAGLE CLUB
A decree of dissolution, signed by Superior Judge Williams, has been filed in connection with the Olive Eagle Club. The petitioners were A. C. Fletcher, Dick Heitzman, J. E. Shoemaker, and Louie Teufel. F. C. Drumm of Orange was attorney for the petitioners.

TUSTIN NEWS

TUSTIN, Dec. 1.—A sense of loss will be felt for a long time in the Tustin community on account of the death of Mrs. James S. Rice, and every one will be reminded of the changes of time when thinking of the historic home without her forceful, impressive, as well as kindly, personality. Many good enterprises in Tustin will miss her sympathetic helpfulness.

A large number of her fellow-townpeople joined in paying their respects to her memory at the beautiful Episcopal funeral service conducted by Dr. Wotton on Friday afternoon at the church in Santa Ana.

The next meeting of the Tustin W. C. T. U. will be a social meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Cock on Thursday afternoon, December 11.

The Tustin Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society is busily preparing to hold their annual bazaar and supper at the home of Mrs. Charles Bowman in the Leck place, corner Main and B streets. The exact date will be announced next week.

A large number of Tustin people are taking much interest in the dramatic event which is to be staged at the school auditorium next Thursday night and is to be an elaborate production of the play, "Damon and Pythias."

The Knights of Pythias entertained the members of their families and their friends at a delicious dinner which was served by the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society Saturday night at the hall. A fine social evening was afterward enjoyed. There were amusements for every one as well as those who love to "trip the light fantastic toe."

Jasper Leck, who is recovering from a serious attack of illness, was entertained at home at a Thanksgiving dinner by his brother, John Leck of Santa Ana, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Oldham of Lincoln University Place, Nebraska, were guests of Mrs. A. J. French at the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Oldham will spend the winter in Whittier.

Misses Irene and Anita Preble were visitors to the city of Los Angeles last week.

Miss Minnie Johnson was a visitor to Hollywood Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Artz and family spent Thanksgiving day with relatives in Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. O. Preble entertained Santa Ana friends at a noon hour Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday and Tustin friends at 6 o'clock dinner in the evening.

A number of Tustin young married people and their friends enjoyed a fine dance at K. P. hall Saturday night of last week. They plan to hold the dances every two weeks for a while. Light refreshments and a good social time will be enjoyed.

GARDEN GROVE NEWS

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 1.—The proprietors of the El Cajon canning factory are anxious to establish a cannery and marmalade factory in Garden Grove provided they are assured sufficient fruit and vegetables to warrant such a venture.

The cannery would employ from fifty to seventy-five people and would convert into cash hundreds of tons of foodstuffs which are now wasted each year. There is little question but that a factory of this kind would prove a paying proposition from the start and as they put out a splendid grade of goods and ship their products to all parts of the United States, it would naturally be a big advertisement for this locality.

Producers and Lands of Sinaloa Are Discussed in Letter From C. E. Utt

SINALOA, Mexico, with its people, its lands, its crops, its flowers and its wild life, is the subject of another delightful travel letter to the Register from C. E. Utt of Tustin, who is at Las Mochis, Mex., visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robertson, and his first grandchild, a few weeks old. The possibilities for development of Sinaloa have been dwelt upon in other letters from Utt. Another letter has arrived, rich in detail, full of information, and entertainingly written. It deals much with the agriculture of Sinaloa, present and possible. There is no one, perhaps, better fitted to discuss the agriculture situation than is Ed. Utt.

Utt's letter, written at Las Mochis on Nov. 21, reads as follows:

The state of Sinaloa is the next state below Sonora. It is a little less than 400 miles in length with an average width of less than 100 miles, and is therefore a little less than one half the area of Sonora.

Its southwestern border is laved by the Gulf of California, sometimes named on the Mexican maps as the Sea of Cortez. The waters of the gulf team with fish and in the many large shallow bays are shrimp, oysters, turtle and an abundance of other sea food.

On its eastern border rise the rugged Sierra Madre mountains to the height of ten or eleven thousand feet. This range of mountains, while not having the highest peaks is perhaps the most difficult and precipitous mountain chain in America. So rugged are they that from Northern Sonora to Guadalajara, a distance of about 1000 miles, not a single railroad, nor even a wagon road crosses its rugged passes. Only a few mule trails have been built across to Chihuahua and Durango.

Rich in Minerals

These mountains are said to contain the richest mineralized zone in Mexico. Only a few of the richest mines are able to operate under the present conditions, but if permanent stability and sanity should ever come to Mexico, hundreds of rich properties, gold, silver and copper would soon be producing fabulous wealth for Mexico and the world.

Sinaloa had a population of over 300,000 at the beginning of the Mexican revolution. It has somewhat less now, although it is probable that the state has suffered much less than most of the other Mexican states by the recent revolutionary disturbances.

The state is not only potentially rich in mineral wealth, but its undeveloped agricultural wealth is very great. Under comprehensive and intelligent management Sinaloa could produce enough sugar to supply the United States with its entire present consumption of that commodity and in addition produce more other agricultural wealth than Southern California is now producing! At present the state is now producing about one per cent, or less of this amount, and sugar is her largest crop export.

Sinaloa's chief agricultural products are sugar, corn, garbanzo, beans, tomatoes and sisal fiber. Cattle, hogs and sheep do well and cattle was one of the chief sources of wealth until the revolution left loose in society those elements long held in suppression by the iron rule of Diaz. Now the cattle business is too hazardous to be attractive on a large scale.

About the same thing, in greater or less degree, according to time, place and season, happened to Mexico with the crumbling of the Diaz regime as came to Boston for a few hours during the recent police mutiny. About the same thing is happening in Mexico, that happened to some of our southern states when we tried "carpet bag" rule after the civil war.

The Great Plain

Well, I started to write about Sinaloa, and there is not room in a single article to discuss the political, economic and social conditions of Mexico, so I will try to get back to the subject.

That portion of Sinaloa which is along the sea lies low and level, with here and there, a rough lava hill or chain of hills rising abruptly from the plain to heights varying from fifty to fifteen hundred feet or more. I should estimate, in the absence of a topographical map, that something like four million acres of this plain lies at an elevation of less than one hundred feet above sea level, much of it not over twenty feet above high tide, and that two or three million acres more lie at less than three hundred feet above sea level.

This coastal plain is covered with a thick carpet of scrub brush and cactus which grows to a height of from twenty to thirty feet and is referred to as "Monte."

This thicket is often so dense that one cannot crawl through it without cutting a trail. The variety of tree, brush, cacti, creepers and other plants is very great and many of the trees and shrubs have thorns, and most of them hooks, which combined with an abundance of spiders and other insects.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia), 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

sects and reptiles, make hunting in this forest a somewhat difficult thing. I have never seen any body of land so level with the exception of Imperial valley. The texture of this soil is harsh, usually of a reddish clay nature, sometimes of black adobe, but always a difficult soil to work, with the exception of the river bottoms, which are of a soft rich silt, called by the natives "Tierra Muerta," (dead soil), I presume because it is the most lively soil they have.

The rivers follow a general southwestern direction to the sea. It is along these rivers that the richest agricultural plains lie, and where most of the present agriculture is carried on.

About the only exception to this is the delta at Las Mochis, where some ten thousand acres of about the most difficult clay land in the world is made to yield wealth in the shape of sugar, alfalfa and tomatoes through irrigation with the waters of the Puente river, which are elevated by a large steam pump to a level sufficient to cover the dry plain.

Los Mochis Water

As it requires only a slight lift the cost of water is quite cheap. Practically all the tomatoes found in the Los Angeles and other American markets from January to May are from Sinaloa, with Mochis as a leading center of production.

The clay soil at Mochis, while not producing such large crops as the richer and more easily worked soil of the river bottoms, does produce the best quality of tomatoes. I indeed, think I have never seen their equal. There is estimated to be one million acres of river bottom land with several million acres of level heavy land lying a little higher. The river bottom lands produce two crops of corn yearly, while on the higher lands only one is grown, during the rainy season.

While I am speaking of corn, let me say that the labor cost of producing corn will average greater in Mexico than in the corn belt of the United States; not to particularize, this is due to the difference in the state of civilization arrived at by the two peoples.

Corn is the staple crop of all Mexico, the staple food of her people. Several decades ago the corn crop in Sinaloa was a failure. Now while Joseph, as are other Biblical names, is quite a common name in Mexico there had been no Joseph to store corn for an extra year's supply. This, because of two reasons, the Mexican abhors a surplus or reserve and also corn here gets weevil in it if held twelve months without special treatment.

In order that the people should not starve, yellow corn from California was imported by sea, for there were then no railroads, and distributed by ox carts and pack trains to the interior parts of the state. The Mexican corn is white and of a much sweeter and better taste than our corn, either white or yellow.

Year of Yellow Corn

Remember that corn is much more a necessity to the daily menu of the Mexican than wheat products are to Yankees, and you will see that it was very bitter bread that these people had to eat daily—if they could get it—and it left its memory which lingers even to the present.

Thus, the year of "the hunger" or as it is often called "The Year of the Yellow corn" became one of the two epochs by which the people date events. The other date is "El Imperio" or the time when the church sacrificed the ill fated Maximilian on the altar in its vain hope for the return of temporal power.

Ask any humble Sinaloan of mature years when he was born, and the chances are good that he will answer saying, "Well, Senior, it was a few years before the Year of the Yellow Corn" or perhaps he will say during "El Imperio."

So much for local color, and speaking of local color, it is both abundant and vivid: I sometimes wish I were a young lady novelist so I could make books; tons of 'em for the American consuming public.

The rainfall varies with the years and localities, heaviest in the mountains and lightest at the coast.

I was recently looking over the official record of the rainfall kept at Cuernavaca, the state Capital, which is situated about forty miles inland at the foot of the mountains. This record showed a minimum of over forty and an average of around thirty inches annual precipitation. The most of the rainfalls in the summer from June to October and some times a little in the winter. The rivers carry an immense volume of water into the sea during the rainy season. The Puente, the largest of them, has been known to rise thirty feet during flood at San Blas. As it is there over a quarter of a mile wide when in flood, with a rapid current, some idea may be gained of the vast quantity of water which goes to waste yearly.

The Water Supply

The rivers quickly subside and in the dry season their flow scarcely suffices for the scanty agriculture already dependent on them. If Sinaloa is ever to become a great agricultural producer it must be by a stupendous and comprehensive reservoir and distribution of the waters now going to waste in the sea.

The extent of the underground water which may be made available for agriculture by pumping is as yet unknown, but my opinion is that they are very limited, and will usually be found only in the river bottoms and at some distance back from the sea. My reasons for this opinion would take

Tin boxes of 12 tablets, cost only a few cents. Drugists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

June the orchids, the flowering creepers and other wild flowers bloom forth and the landscape then presents a most charming picture, a variety of greens and wealth of color truly tropical.

If the vegetable kingdom is well represented, the faunal life is in no way behind in the quantity and variety of its specimens, both on land and sea.

The robin makes his winter home here, also a large variety of ducks and in addition to the birds of passage is a large number who make their permanent home here, many of them common to California, many unknown to it.

There is quite a variety of blackbirds, among them a very large, glossy, sassy fellow, twice the size of the common ones.

There are two varieties of buzzards and a carrion-eating hawk is very common. This fellow is called a Queleche. He is about the most regal looking bird here. Black crest, white neck, grey body with white markings on wings and tail and yellow legs and beak with a naked red face; an important boldness in his bearing. They are very plentiful. I have seen them by the dozen following a plow for the freshly discovered grubs.

There are also a large variety of sea birds and I have seen a few pink cranes or Egrets once common in many parts of North America but now quite scarce, due to "My Lady's Hat."

There is a game bird here known as the Quechie. The quechie likes to live in cornfields, and when he lifts his voice in song, it sounds like a very rusty suction pump being rapidly worked to get the water started. The quechie very much resembles a half grown brown leghorn chicken. Perhaps in the remote past a brown leghorn wandered away into the forest and became the father of the quechie.

Much Wild Game

In the mountains are bear, wolves and wild turkey. The cat family is well represented from the little ring-tailed cat up to the Jaguar, called by natives tigris.

There are wild pigs, pecaries, about the most dangerous animal in America to hunt, for they usually are in droves and the cry of a wounded pecary brings the whole drove of frenzied fearless creatures to battle.

Deer are plentiful, a small white-tailed deer is the only variety I have seen. Ground squirrels are not very plentiful. There is an abundance of large greyish, white Jack rabbits—the variety known in the books as "Antelope Jacks."

Four varieties of wild pigeon and a quail somewhat different in markings from our quail in California are here.

As before stated it would take several articles to describe the flora and fauna of Sinaloa. I have left out more than I have told of this wonderful state, but before I close I must say that we are not so slow here as you might have reason to suppose. The Saturday Evening Post arrives at Mochis just four days before the same number gets to Santa Ana, California!

Do you know that tannin is bad for the stomach?

"Of course; but I never get any tannin."

Don't be too sure. The puckery taste in your tea is tannin.

Common tea depends mostly upon tannin for its strength. Fine tea gets its strength from the real tea flavor.

If you want to enjoy really fine tea, and skip that puckery tannin taste, ask your grocer for Schilling Tea.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon, India, Oolong, English Breakfast. All one quality. In parchment-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocers everywhere.
